

First Semester SY 2021-2022

THE INAF SATISFACTION REPORT

by the Loyola Schools
Integrated Ateneo Formation (InAF)
Program

We're happy to once again present the results of the Integrated Ateneo Formation Program for the first semester of SY 2021-2022. It's good to see that students continue to appreciate the various elements of the program and that there has been improvement compared to our performance in the first semester of SY 2020-2021.

The first semester of SY 2021-2022 brought with it two developments.

The first was the transition from a quarterly system to a semestral system. After adjusting from onsite activities to online activities last school year, this school year, we all had to adjust to a semestral workload. We're happy to note that based on the student evaluation results, our professionals have successfully made the adjustment.

The second was the introduction of a new program for seniors tied up with Discerning Life's Questions. Again, based on the evaluation results, our professionals seem to have introduced worthwhile activities.

As always, if you have any suggestions for the further improvement of the programs, please do not hesitate to email Erikha Villasanta at evillasanta@ateneo.edu regarding the first and fourth year programs and Noelle Flores at nflores@ateneo.edu for the second and third year programs.

Once again, we'd like to thank the professionals, administrators, faculty, and staff who work so hard to conceptualize and implement the Integrated Ateneo Formation Program. And thank you too to all our students for your continued support for the activities.
